

THE WEEKLY ENUMERATOR

VOICES FROM AROUND THE STATE

COMMENTS - YES VOTERS

- “The men and women who work in code enforcement are acting to execute law in the same manner as the police or other public safety officers. They should receive the same protections (immunities) as are available their colleagues in other areas of government. This bill should be supported to bring them under these same protections.”

COMMENTS - NO VOTERS

- “Remember "slaves" to obey your masters! This is another regulation to make abuse by government employees on all levels toward the public "legal". Should mandatory vaccination become "legal" the individual will be slapped with a prison sentence should they "resist". When the "code enforcers" want to check inside of your house or apartment for compliance concerning plumbing, electric, etc. the resident better bow down to the authority of the government official or face the penalty. How many people in the state of Georgia have been violated or murdered by the police "in the lawful discharge of his or her official duties" in just the past few years? What about the unlawful blood draws forced upon drivers? Again, it is the police who are out of control at those checkpoints.
- “It is unconstitutional it violates our privacy, right to the pursuit of happiness, causes undue hardships financially and emotionally, private property owners should be exempt. It is discriminatory in that it is only enforced by one neighbor turning against another by snitching on them. You can be fined or go to jail for silly things like parking or driving across your own grass. Counties are making themselves ripe for a lawsuit. There are already laws to enforce assault and battery. Why would we need another?”
- “A "code" is NOT a law and "code enforcers" are NOT LAW enforcement officers. This kind of change will lead to issues between "code enforcers" and Citizens when the "code enforcer" is trespassing or otherwise not performing his / or her duties as required. Citizens will be subjected to He says / She says situations where the courts or other administrative bodies will always support the state employee or contractor. How about we put cameras on each and every Law and Code enforcement officer to make sure that they (the public servant) is actually doing what they SHOULD be doing and not harassing any and all Citizens for the "crime" of something stupid or silly like not cutting their grass. (And yes, you KNOW this will happen. Just look at Law enforcement in this day and age. People getting pulled from cars, beaten and arrested because they ask an LEO a question? Or don't roll their window down all the way? Or even think about not identifying themselves to an LEO who is on a "fishing trip" in order to fill an arbitrary quota for revenue.
- Our society and economy is already crippled and stifled due to regulatory oppression. We do not need to empower technicians of "unregulated" backgrounds and training with the ability to charge citizens with criminal offenses.
